Having kept very quiet for the past three months, we crave your indulgence for a few moments, while we explain to our competitors where they are in danger of deviating from the truth. They say that "the REFLEX GRATE will not work after a few months." We can prove by dozens of persons who have used them for two and three years, that the Reflex Grate will out-wear two ordinary grates and still be in perfect working order. This is a fact, and to dispute it is more than anyone can do.

THE VERY BEST

Brown Old Government Pedang Java

COFFEE.

We have been at work for some time trying to find the best drinking O. G. Java coffee, and have had samples from a number of New York and Boston importers, which we have roasted and drank, and at last, after a great deal of care, we believe we have secured the best we ever owned, and as good Pedang Coffee as was ever brought to Bangor. We have purchased of this lot 65 Pockets--4,335 Lbs.

And shall retail it at the following prices:

Raw, 25 Cents per lb.

Roast, 30 Cents per lb.

No doubt you can buy Java Coffee as low, or perhaps at lower prices than we offer this, but all we ask is to have you try a pound of ours and compare the quality with the low price Java. There are lots of Pale Javas being sold, that are not as good flavored as good Maracaibo Coffee. This Old Government Pedang Java of ours is nearly as good as lots of Mandehling Java (which are the best Javas grown) now in the market. We roast all our Coffee ourselves at our mill, two or three times a week, and guarantee fresh roasted Coffee at all times, and warrant it to suit or it can be returned and the money will be refunded.

Try a Pound.

"FAIR HARVARD'S" ATHLETES

LAST OF THE WINTER MEETINGS.

[Correspondence of Whig and Courier.]

CAMBRIDGE, March 24th, 1883.

The last of the three winter meetings of the Harvard Athletic Association occurred this afternoon. Long before 2 30, the time fixed for commencing, crowds of people could be seen through the thick dust raised by the brisk March wind, approaching the Hemenway Gymnasium. To day was one of the two days on which the fair sex was permitted to be present and witness the feats of strength and skill, on the different machinery which the gymnasium affords for exercise, and from the number of ladies present, it appears that they take a great interest in these meetings. The capacious gymnasium was literally packed with people. Seats were built up on the running track and on the floor below, leaving only space enough down the centre of the building for the contestants to perform. All the ropes were carefully coiled away on the iron frame-work overhead, and all the unnecessary apparatus was removed, and the gymnasium presented a strange aspect to the every day frequenter. The first event being an exhibition of rowing by the University Crew, there were the hydraulic weights, on which the various crews pull during the winter, placed in line, on planks on the floor. These machines are strange looking objects to one who has never seen them before. They consist of a cylinder and piston like a small engine; to the piston rod is affixed a handle, which takes the place of the oar, and the resistance is caused by the water with which the cylinder is filled, escaping into a side pipe through a small hole the size of which can be regulated, according to the resistance desired. Finally the hum of the spectators diminishes, and the eight men who form the present University Crew take their seats at the "machines" as they are called.

The following is the list of events:

1. Exhibition of rowing by the University Crew
2. Running High Jump.
3. Flying Rings.
4. Rope Climbing (hand over hand)
5. Vaulting with a Pole.
6. Double Trapeze.
7. Horizontal Bar
8. Running High Kick.
9. Tumbling
10. Tug of War, 83 versus '86

After the crew had gotten well settled in their seats, the word was given and they began at 33 or 34 strokes per minute. There is no noise among the 2,000 spectators and the stillness is only broken by the click of the handles in their sockets as the men recover. These are the men who are to meet Yale next June, and everybody gazes on them with interest, and they are worthy of attention, for they are a solid, powerful looking set of men although not so heavy or large as the crews of '78 and '79 which were exceptional. This crew rows in good form and consists of many men who have rowed before. The crew consists of the following:

1. W. W. Mumford, '84.
2. F. L. Sawyer, '83.
3. C. M. Belshaw, '83.
4. C. F. Gilman, '85.
5. R. P. Perkins, '84
6. C. M. Hammond, '83 (Capt.)
7. E. A. S. Clarke, '84

Stroke—C. P. Curtis, '83.

Sabin P. Sanger, Coxswain.

W. A. Bancroft, Coach.

In the Running High Jump it was amusing to notice the difference in the methods employed by the contestants to leap over the bar. One man threw his feet out straight before him as he went over, and alighted on his back on the mattress on the other side. Many repetitions of this can't be very agreeable when the bar is placed at a height of 5 feet. Another curls his feet up as he goes over, but generally the men go over sideways with one foot after the other being lifted over the bar while the man is in the air. This event was won by D. C. Clark, '86, with a record of 5 feet 3 3-10 inches.

It seemed somewhat difficult to do many interesting things on the "Flying Rings" but the contestants went through some very difficult feats and some requiring rare strength in the muscles of the arms. One very difficult thing was hanging by one hand placed behind the back, the body being all the time in a horizontal position. After a somewhat lengthy performance the prize was awarded T. C. Bachelder, '83.

There were four entries for the Rope Climbing (hand over hand) and there being only two ropes, it is decided by two heats. The distance to the place where the rope was fastened was about forty-five feet and this Marquand, '85 reached in twenty-five seconds, and was liberally applauded.

In the pole vaults there were three contestants, one of them being Loren, '83, who has the best record for the high jump. At nine feet, six inches, the others fail, and Loren tries at nine feet, nine inches, which is a quarter of an inch higher than the best college record, which was made by Tolan, of Princeton. Every one is on the qui vive of excitement as the jumper struggles to beat the record, and a murmur of disappointment and sympathy runs through the vast assemblage, on each successive failure. After three or four trials, he is obliged to give it up, and be content with nine feet, six inches, which appears high enough to the average spectator when the services of a tall man are required to replace the bar on the pegs, after it has been knocked off, as the leaper goes over. Loren came very near clearing the bar at the great hight of nine feet, nine inches, only failing by striking with his arm, as he was going down on the other side.

The trapeze preformance was the most interesting thing of the afternoon. This was not a contested event, but an exhibition, and one of excellent skill. The participants were Bachelder, '83, and O. B. Davis, '84, one being very muscular and powerful, while the other was light and strong. Some of the movements were startling, and people held their breath, involuntarily exclaiming, oh! in terror, or gave a sigh of relief, according to what was being done. At the conclusion the applause was enthusiastic and prolonged, until Messrs. Bachelder and Davis were obliged to appear and show their acknowledgements, a thing seldom seen in these meetings.

Four men were entered for the Horizontal Bar, which did not prove as interesting as expected, notwithstanding some good work was done; but the people did not appreciate the difficulty of some of the manœuvers. A member of '86, Faulkner, executed a very difficult "Giant Swing," changing his hands in the middle, which was loudly applauded, and he was declared the winner.

In the Running High Kick, five men appeared, to contest the honors. Much amusement was caused by Fessenden '86 easily reaching the tin tambourine, when standing on the other foot, while all the others were obliged to jump up to reach it. Notwithstanding the ease with which he at first reached the mark, he appeared to be weak in the legs as the height was increased, and the prize was given to Loren, '83, who reached eight feet, eight and one-half inches

The Tumbling was good, but it was difficult for those on the floor to see. The best feature was jumping through a hole in a canvas held like the hoop in a circus, and there was much amusement among the spectators as Fox, '83, carried away the canvas in his flight through the air, and was concealed from view under it, when he alighted on the mattress beneath, when he finally emerged with a "snap-up." He was awarded the prize.

The Tug of War was a very interesting event to both those pecuniarily interested, and others. This was the decisive heat between '83 and '86, as each of these classes had scored a victory at the two preceding meets. The teams "dropped" beautifully, and the little red ball, running on a vertical rope, indicated that '83 had a trifle the advantage. The teams were limited to 160 pounds, and consisted of four men each, and the time limit was five minutes. The Freshmen evidently realize that their opponents are older, more experienced, and stronger, but they intend to make a great effort to win the laurels. Evidently their intention is to wait until the five minutes are nearly up and then to make a desperate effort, but this policy did not avail them, although they held their own wonderfully well. The excitement increases as the time on the last minute is announced, and reaches its height when four minutes and three-quarters are announced. At this point 86 made a desperate struggle, but all to no purpose, as they could not recover the advantage gained by 83 who were the winners by from 4 to 6 inches. There is a great confusion, shaking of hands, and cheers for '83 and Mr. Hemenway, the meeting closed and the two thousand spectators left the gymnasium, much pleased with the afternoon entertainment. G. B. Morison '83, won the "Herald Cup" for general excellence, making 42½ points out of a possible 60.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The Livermore Falls News is the name of a new paper just started.

The Lewiston Journal says that the bust of Charles Sumner, presented to Bates College by the present Senior class is of the finest carrara marble and is pronounced by critics to be very fine and a remarkably fine likeness of Sumner. On the pedestal is a bronzed tablet bearing the names of the members of the class. Many compliments are extended to the class for their generosity and also the success of the programme.

Cumberland.

The Press says Officers Massure and Sparrow, of Portland, arrested a man named Pattison, for assault on another named Hinds, with a knife. On the way to the station Pattison managed to throw away the weapon.

L. N. Downs, the General manager of the National Bell Telephone Company, of Maine, is about making extensive radical changes in Portland. He is expending some $4,000 or $5,000 perfecting the service.

The Press says Dr. N. R. Martin, of Saccarappa, was thrown from his sleigh, Sunday, and badly cut and bruised.

Patrick J. Higgins, of Portland, Monday evening was leaning against the rail at the top of a long flight of steps leading to his house, talking to a friend, when the railing gave way and he fell backwards into the street, striking on his head and shoulders.

Coroner Gould held an inquest in Portland, Monday, on the body of John Bartlett, who was fatally injured by an accident in the machine shop yard of the Eastern railroad, at Turner's Island. The inquest was held at the request of friends of the deceased. Only three witnesses were examined. No one saw the accident but Mr. Evans, who was at work with Bartlett, was on the other side of the car a few moments before the accident, and saw Bartlett standing on the truck frame of an ash car. The next he saw of him he was sitting on a pile of lumber, with his arm terribly crushed. He was taken to the Maine General Hospital, but did not rally from the shock, and died in a few hours. The master mechanic testified that he had given strict orders to Bartlett as well as to the other men, not to attempt to ride on the cars. The jury returned a verdict that Bartlett came to his death through his own carelessness, and that the road or employes were in no manner to blame. Bartlett had been employed in the yard only ten days.

Franklin.

The Franklin Journal says, Saturday afternoon two men in Weld had a quarrel about a chew of gum, and in the scuffle which followed, one of them had his nose disfigured. A biting affair.

Oxford.

The young daughter of Mr. Stephen Foster, of Newry, four years of age, was severely scalded one day last week. While the mother was carrying a pitcher of hot water, the child ran against her and upset the water, which ran down the child's neck, burning her in a shocking manner.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robinson, of Oxford, came off on Monday evening last, at their residence. Mr. Robinson is one of the proprietors of the Robinson Manufacturing Company's mill, Oxford village, and for twenty five years past has had a successful business career. Nearly one hundred guests were in attendance, and many rich and elegant presents were received by the worthy couple. Mrs. Robinson had a slight paralytic shock on Saturday last, but was sufficiently recovered to receive the congratulations of her numerous friends on Monday evening.

Sagadahoc.

The Times says: Saturday, at Hyde's foundry, in Bath, Mr. Augustus Kimball, the man employed as a melter, while on top of the moulding iron closing the scuttle, met with quite an accident. While closing the large wooden scuttle he stepped by some chance on a glass one underneath, which gave way precipitating him through the scuttle. He had however the presence of mind to grasp at the edge which he caught and drew himself up. His instant death would have been inevitable, as if he had failed to grasp the edge he would have fallen a distance of forty feet, on a pile of iron scraps and pouring ladles. His presence of mind is all that saved him

PERSONAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

The run on the Newburgh, New York Savings Bank has ended.

It is said that Queen Victoria has seen but one theatrical performance since her widowhood.

It is again reported that the daughter of Victoria Woodhull is engaged to an English nobleman.

Senator Edmunds is at Aiken, S. C., and will go this week to Florida, where he will remain until summer.

Ex-Secretary Kirkwood has recovered fully from the effects of his recent accident, and is lecturing in Iowa, on education.

Ex Governor Proctor, of Vermont, has given a large collection of books to the town of Centre Rutland, for a free public library.

The Roman Catholic church in Norwalk, Connecticut, was broken into Sunday night, and the Easter collection, amounting to over $500, stolen.

A Vermont judge has ruled that where liquor is sent in that State marked C O D, the sale is made in the State, and hence is contrary to law.

The Iowa Supreme Court decides to rehear the case involving the validity of the prohibitory amendment, and arguments will begin next Tuesday.

The Hon. Lionel Sackville West, the British Minister in this country, and Senator Bayard, have engaged rooms at Saratoga, for the coming season.

At the Channing church, in Newport, Sunday, the memorial window given by the relatives and descendants of William Ellery Channing was unveiled.

The sum of nearly twenty thousand dollars was recently found hidden in the hovel of an old blacksmith, deceased in a Yorkshire (England) town, and as there are no heirs, the money goes to the crown.

The Postal telegraph Company on Saturday, opened its line for private test between New York and Chicago, and everything worked perfectly.

Ristori, aged sixty-five, and very wealthy, is said to be a physical wreck! She lately appeared as Marie Antoinette at a Roman theatre, on the occasion of a benefit.

James Gordon Bennett has sold to Dr. C. M. Bell, of New York, for $75,000, the lot on Bellevue Avenue, Newport, which he bought of the late A. D. Jessup, of Philadelphia five years ago, for $45,000.

A queer and easy method of shoemaking is practiced by the dwellers on the island St. Helena. It consists of wrapping around the feet the soft, warm skin of the pot fish, which, in drying, retains the shape of the foot.

John Fitzsimmons, a New York newsboy, was arrested Saturday night for shouting, "Ex-tree-e! Furrightful loss of li-ife!" When he was arraigned he said he was only "foolin." "It was very funny, and ought to be expensive," said the justice, "and so I'll charge you $10 for it."

The Fireman's Journal says, that, to do away with the torment of cold feet, all that is necessary, is, to stand erect and very gradually to lift one's self up upon the tips of the toes, so as to put the tendons of the foot at full strain, and to remain standing on the point of the toes as long as possible, then gradually coming to the natural position. Repeat this several times.

At the conference of the New York milk producers and dealers on Saturday, the following schedule was agreed upon for the coming year April, 3 cents per quart; May, 2½ cents; June, 2½ cents; July, 3 cents; August, 4 cents; September, 3½ cents, October, 3½ cents; November, 4 cents; December, 4 cents; January, 4 cents, February, 3½ cents, and March, 3½ cents Total, 40 cents. The original demand of the farmers was for an aggregate of 41 cents

Large quantities of beef are used in the London hospitals to make beef tea. The beef which is left after the tea is made is a stringy, indigestible substance, and has until recently been sold at a low rate to feed pigs. But the vicar of the little village of High Roding, in Essex, writes to the Guardian saying that the laboring and farming population of that part of the country think it delicious and are eager to obtain it. He has made arrangements to have all such meat sent from the London hospitals to feed the poor creatures who would otherwise never taste meat.

There is a bright and intelligent newsboy in St. Louis who is a great favorite among the members of the Cotton Exchange. A few days ago, some of the dignified old members brought him upon the floor of the Exchange, and proceeded, after the manner of dignified old members, to give him some good advice and to tell him what he might accomplish, citing several notable instances of great men who had risen from small beginnings. The boy listened attentively and modestly, but as he went out, said: "Oh, pshaw! Wind is cheap, and Wiggins deals in it. I get lots of advice, but I'd rather sell a dozen papers, and then I know my bank account will grow."

The Royal Portuguese Association of Agriculture will open an exposition at Lisbon next May. American farmers and inventors of agricultural implements are requested to send exhibits, which will be transported by the Portuguese government free of charge, from London to Lisbon and back. Special provision will be made for the trial and competition of cultivators, reapers, harvesters, etc., and for all improved water-wheels, turbines, windmills, hand and power pumps, irrigating and all other hydraulic machines, rural constructions in wood, comprising cheap and convenient houses for workmen, carts for farm use, methods for the care, preservation and clearing of wood lands, the whole of the appliances used in apiarian culture, and the whole series of preserved food—vegetable and animal,—and every variety of churns and cheese making machinery.

According to the Cincinnati Enquirer a tramp refused to saw wood for his dinner, giving as a reason that he was bitterly opposed to the destruction of our forests and would do nothing to encourage that kind of business. And he walked off picking his teeth.

HOSTETTER'S

BITTERS

Invalids who are recovering vital stamina, declare in grateful terms their appreciation of the merits as a tonic, of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Not only does it impart strength to the weak, but it also corrects an irregular acid state of the stomach, makes the bowels act at proper intervals, gives ease to those who suffer from rheumatic and kidney troubles, and conquers as well as prevents fever and ague.

THURSDAY, MARCH 29, 1883

The straight Democrats of Rhode Island are to put up a ticket in opposition to ex Governor Sprague Unlike the Democrats of this State they don t tackle kindly to the fusion principle

Gov Butler has reason to be much discouraged A western lady has recently named her baby after Grover Cleveland This gives the latter undoubted lead in the Democratic presidential race

The remains of John Howard Payne have reached Washington and have been placed in the chapel of the beautiful Oak Hill Cemetery where they will remain until the completion of their final sepulcher which is now being erected at the expense of Mr W W Corcoran, the millionaire philanthropist of that city

The snow fall in North Carolina on Sunday and Monday was unprecedented At Greensborough the snow l two feet deep on the level and at Henderson it is three feet, with the storm unended Telegraph l nes are down from Greensborough north At Raleigh a number of hot ses have fallen under the weight of the snow

General Raum Commissioner of Internal Revenue has issued the p rfected blanks for claims for rebate of taxes paid on tobacco snuff and cigars The blanks are the result of careful study of the law and are so framed that it is the opinion of all the experts of the department that no fraud can possibly be practiced The blanks are so arranged in columns that the serial numbers of the stamps may readily be compared with the stub books at the Treasury and the regulation that the inventories shall all be made on one day May first will it is believed, prevent duplications General Raum said that it was impossible to give any adequate opinion as to the amount of rebate but would be claimed The estimates vary from four to ten million dollars

The Cincinnati Enquirer publishes an interview between George Alfred Townsend and a son of the inventor Morse, in which the latter says that the first sentence ever publicly recorded by the telegraph and preserved was in these words 'Attention the Universe By Kingdom of Right Wheel' This was sent through ten miles of wire in 1837, and not till May, 1844 when over the wires stretched on poles along the Baltimore & Ohio track, the telegraph announced from the Whig National Convention which met in Baltimore, the nomination of Henry Clay and Theodore Frelinghuysen was the telegraph a solvent institution In 1846 Congress could have bought the entire invention from Morse for $100 000 It was intended originally to place the wire in tubes underground Ezra Cornell, father of Gov Cornell invented something for that purpose, but the idea was abandoned in favor of stretching the wires on poles

Senator Kellogg is very indignant that the Grand Jury has found a presentment against him and declares that an outrage has been committed upon him He attributes this action to his Democratic assistant star route counsel a Mr Merrick, Democrat one of the principal star route counsel who was very active against him in his Louisiana case as the attorney for the contestant Spofford, and has pursued his case Mr Kellogg charges that the stories of Walsh or gnaste in an attempt to blackmail and that on the trial, if there ever is one, he will be able to show no only that fact but some other astounding practices Mr Kellogg says if there is not a shadow of chance that any case can be made against him The Attorney General who is absent from the city is said to be of opinion that there was no ground for such proceedings There is nothing new in the points submitted to the grand jury in the Kellogg case—Washington Post on Journal

General Sherman will make a tour of inspection of the army posts this summer—his last as General of the Army He will be present at the graduating ceremonies West Point in June and will leave Washington about the 20th of June on his journey across the continent His party will consist of Chief Justice Waite and Justice Gray, of the Supreme Court and General Tidball and Colonel Bacon, of his staff They will go by railroad to St Paul and thence to Fort Ellis M T, where they will be provided with an escort and outfit for the overland journey General Sherman intends to keep near the northern boundary of the United states most of the way crossing into British Columbia some distance this side of Puget s Sound where the overland journey will end He will not visit all the military posts in the Northwest but will go to the headquarters of the Department of the Columbia and thence to San Francisco He will return by the thirty fifth parallel or Atlantic and Pacific route when he will again have a military escort between the termini of the uncompleted section of the railroad

After an eventful voyage the United states steam sloop of war Ranger has reached Mare Island Navy Yard, where she will be thoroughly overhauled and repaired She sailed from San Francisco on November 4 last on a surveying expedition along the Mexican coast On November 21 she picked up the American barkentine Hattie Fluckenger, dismasted and short of provisions The barkentine was towed in to Morro Ayuca Bay, where, on the following morning, the Ranger struck a sunken rock and damaged her stern and the main shaft bearings As this part of the vessel was inaccessible except in a dock the Ranger was ordered to Mare Island for repairs Temporary repairs were made by the engineers and she reached her destination after a protracted voyage The Ranger is one of a class of three vessels built in 1874, the others being the Huron and Alert. The Alert, after having been in commission for six years, recently returned to Mare Island for repairs and overhauling The Huron was lost on the North Carolina coast three years ago. The Ranger was fitted out in 1881 for special service and has steamed since then a distance greater than a circuit of the globe Under sail alone the Ranger is not considered a success, and the recent change of rig from schooner to bark has added nothing to her sailing qualities, but under steam she has proven one of the most economical vessels of the navy She has been fortunate enough to be of service on several occasions to vessels in distress.

THE POSTMASTER GENERALSHIP.

SPECULATIONS REGARDING JUDGE HOWE'S SUCCESSOR

The Washington correspondent of the Tribune writes The sudden death of Postmaster General Howe has given the political gossips something to do, and they are improving the opportunity. There is the best reason to believe that the President is not only deeply saddened but greatly perplexed by the situation of affairs as well by the serious illness of Secretary Folger as by the unexpected vacancy in his Cabinet The latter event came so suddenly that he has not, of course, given much thought or consideration to the subject of a successor He will not lack for advice or for candidates from among whom to make a choice The name in nearly everybody's mouth in connection with the vacancy is that of Mr Hatton who is considered by many to have the best chance of success Assistant Secretary New of the Treasury Department, said that in his opinion Mr Hatton s promotion is probable. He did not think that the President would take an officer from another department and promote him over Mr Hatton's head This is regarded as a gentle protestation on Mr New s part that he regards the prospect of the First Assistant Postmaster General for the place as better than his own He of course thinks that Indiana has claims upon a place in the Cabinet and hopes that she will receive justice at last

The presence of ex Representative Butterworth in Washington at this time is regarded by some as significant but then it should be remembered that when he started on his journey there was no apparent probability of a Cabinet vacancy. It be his aspirations for the office, however the fact that he is on the ground will by no means be a disadvantage to him. The name of Governor Foster of Ohio has also been mentioned to day There are persons who believe that if the appointment should go to Iowa Representative Kasson would be more likely to receive it than would Mr Hatton Mr Kasson has had considerable experience in the Post Office Department and negotiated several important postal treaties His career in the last Congress was rather disappointing to him in several respects Some of his friends seem to believe that he would not be averse to relinquishing his seat in the next House for the sake of a Cabinet office

The suggestion that the President may think it wise to offer the appointment to Mr Windom is received with great favor although a good many who should be glad to see him in the office believe that he would not accept it It is reported that he has recently entered into business engagements which will require his presence in Mexico

The late Postmaster General owed his place in the Cabinet largely to the influence of General Grant, who may desire to have something to say as to the choice of his successor and it is not improbable that General Grant s visit to Washington at this time may be to some extent influenced by that motive The presence at the capital of General Diaz, however would probably be sufficient to account for General Grant s visit at this time When he was in Mexico President Diaz bestowed many attentions upon him and and warmly encouraged business letterprises to which General Grant is interested

THE VANDERBILT PARTY

SOME OF THE PRINCIPAL COSTUMES

Below we give a few of the principal costumes worn at the Vanderbilt party Monday night

Mrs. Vanderbilt appeared as a Venetian Princess taken from a picture by Catharel The underskirt was of white and yellow brocade, shading from the deepest orange to the lightest canary only the high lights being white The figures of flowers and leaves were outlined in gold, white and iridescent beads light blue satin train embroidered most efficently in gold and lined in Roman red Almost the entire length of the train was caught up at one side forming a large puff The waist was of blue satin covered with gold embroidery, the dress was cut square in the neck and the flowing sleeves were of transparent gold tissue She wore a Venetian cap covered with magnificent pearl the most noticeable of these being a superb pendant in many colored gems

Lady Mandeville wore a dress copied from a picture by Vandyke of Princess de Croy The petticoat was of black satin embroidered in jet The body and train were of black velvet ornamented with heavy jet embroidery The dress had large puffed sleeves and a lumberette stand up collar of Venetian lace, the sleeves being turned up with the same lace The whole was crowned with a black Vandyke hat and drooping plumes turned up at one side and blazing with jewels Nothing could have been more becoming to Lady Mandeville s blonde beauty than this magnificent and sombre dress

W B Vanderbilt appeared as the Duke de Guise wearing yellow silk tights, yellow and black flunkey s yellow doublet and a black velvet cloak embroidered in gold with the Order of St Michael suspended on a black ribbon and with a white wig, black velvet shoes and buckles This costume was an exact copy of a painting of the Duke of Guise in Windsor Derbitt s art gallery The costume was fairly covered with diamonds, emeralds and garnets

Cornelius Vanderbilt appeared as Louis XVI in a habit de cour and breeches of fawn colored brocade trimmed with silver point d Espagne and a waistcoat of peach trimmed with real silver lace The stocking shoes and hat were of peach. He wore a jabot and ruffle of lace and a diamond hilted sword Mrs Cornelius Vanderbilt appeared as the Electress Christine in white satin trimmed with diamonds and a magnificent diamond head dress Mrs Vanderbilt was accompanied by her children daintily apparelled, one as a rose in pink tulle with a satin cowslress of green leaves, a waist of green satin and the dress of white satin fashioned like a Jacquet holder another as Sindbad the Sailor, in white satin breeches, a white chemisette a flying jacket embroidered in gold, and Turkish shoes, and a third as a little courtier, in a light blue satin hand embroidered coat, with waistcoat and breeches of white satin, hand-embroidered in roses and daisies

Miss Ada Smith a sister of Mrs. Vanderbilt, wore, as a peacock a dazzling costume of peacock-blue satin, the waist composed of real peacock s breast, with a peacock cap and fan The train and the front of the dress were covered with the peacock feather trimming Another similar costume was worn by Mrs Buchanan Winthrop

Mrs Seward Webb, Mr Vanderbilt s sister wore as a borbet, a brilliant waist of yellow satin, with a brown velvet skirt and brown gauze wings This dress was paralleled by another representing a wasp of purple and black gold gauze, with horizontal stripes of black and yellow and a transparent gold tissue overdress A special beaddress was imported for this costume, with antennæ of diamonds Yellow gloves striped with black were worn with it

Mrs Elliott F Shepard, was attired as a Marquise. The train of her dress was of olive brocade, embroidered with gold, and the front was of Nile-green satin. The corsage was of pearl-embroidered tulle, festooned with gold cords, was cut high and square and was trimmed with lace a century old. The sleeves were of pearl tulle puffed over yellow satin and trimmed with pearls A high Medici collar completed the dress

Mrs W D Sloane wore a red satin, short quilted skirt, crossed with black velvet to form diamonds. The overdress was of antique brocade, embroidered with poppies looped very bouffant The low waist was cut to a point and made of black velvet with a vest of brocade Poppies were embroidered around the neck and sleeves. A black velvet cap with poppies was worn

Mrs Hamilton McK Twombly was attired in a short skirt of palest blue satin, quilted in diamonds with large gold beads on each point. A puffing of satin round the bottom was covered with gold fringe The over-dress was of white brocade, with large embroidered pink roses, and leaves embroidered in gold and silver The waist was cut low, and the dress had a Watteau back. The elbow sleeves were of old antique lace and a hat trimmed with pink and white feathers was worn

Mrs. W. H. Vanderbilt appeared as a duchess in a dark colored court dress trimmed with rare lace and jewels. W. H. Vanderbilt appeared in ordinary evening dress.

Mrs William Aster was attired in a Venetian dress of dark-colored velvet and satin, the velvet being embroidered in gold in designs of roses and the satin with pearls. The front of the low-cut corsage was covered with rare jewels. The inside of the long flowing sleeves was embroidered with pearls. A small standing collar surmounted the corsage, and the hair, which was worn flowing, was partly covered by a small cap fastened with plumes and an aigrette of diamonds.

Mrs Chauncey M Depew appeared as Undine. Her costume, one of the most elegant of the evening, was of pale sea-green satin, dancing length, and covered with white tulle drapery, on which were many tiny silver moons, caught up with clusters of water lilies and long grasses Her bodice of green velvet was trimmed with fine old round point lace, and across the front was a jardinière of pond lilies and long grasses Her hair, which was powdered with silver dust, was coiled under a cap of white tulle, spangled with silver stars and ornamented by a diamond pin and a cluster of long grasses She wore a large diamond lizard and turtle, a diamond star necklace and bracelets and pins, all to represent dew drops

That portion of the new tariff which exempts American artists residing in Europe from the burden of import duties on their works when shipped to America is said to have excited a great deal of indignation among the foreign artists who have hither to relied very largely upon the American market for the sale of their productions But if the prices paid for the works of the latter are so very liberal as they are generally reported to be, these foreign artists have really no excuse for indignation.

The Providence Journal in view of the straight Democratic movement predicts that the Sprague boom will have become less than an echo by April 4th, election day.

VOTED TO HAVE A TOWN HALL

The Question Settled in Brunswick

BRUNSWICK, March 25 At the annual town meeting of 1882 it was voted to build a town hall at a cost of $40 000, but owing to the necessity of additional legislation nothing was done last year. All the power needed has since been granted by the Legislature ... the town at its last annual meeting refused to postpone building the hall and chose a new building committee A special meeting called by the opponents of the measure the town again refused by an overwhelming majority to postpone the matter It created considerable excitement The meeting was the largest for many years

AUGUSTA

The Governor and Council

AUGUSTA, March 28 The Governor and Council have awarded the printing and binding of the Revised Statutes to Wm Marks and Loring Short & Harmon, of Portland, at $2 57½ per volume, they being the lowest bidders

To-day the Executive Council confirmed the nomination of Oramandel Smith for Insurance Commissioner, and I. Warren Merrill, for Trustee of the Normal School.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL TROUBLE

AUGUSTA, March 28. The Board of Trustees of the Normal School held a secret meeting this evening to consider the difficulty at the Farmington Normal School. Five Trustees were present. The charges signed by several teachers were presented. The charges hold that the Principal has been overbearing, that he has been changeable and uncertain in making arrangements for the studies; also that the teachers did not know one day what they were to do the next. These charges were laid on the table for the present.

The committee of inspection, consisting of three members of the Board, associated with one member of the Executive Council, was instructed to visit the school and make a preliminary investigation and report to the Trustees If possible such adjustment is to be made between the teachers and principal as shall maintain harmony in the school till end of the school year, when changes will be made if upon a thorough investigation they are deemed necessary, but if no adjustment of this kind can be reached now, then the Trustees will take immediate action and make such charges at once

The Biennial Election Bill Passed by the House

BOSTON, March 28 The House to-day passed, 133 to 64 the bill providing for biennial elections of State officers and sessions of the Legislature.

The Envoys From Madagascar.

BOSTON, March 28 The Envoys from Madagascar after returning from Salem this afternoon were driven through the business streets of this city and afterward were the recipients of a formal dinner at the Fremont House Shortly after eight in the evening they held a public reception at the Park street church, Mayor Palmer presiding Addresses were made by the Mayor, Rev Dr N G Clark, of the Foreign Board of Missions, Hon E C. Fitz President of the Board of Trade, and the Chief of the Embassy, Ravoninahitriniarivo.

A set of resolutions presented by Rev Ely Porter was adopted, expressing the sympathy of the meeting with the people of Madagascar in their present trouble, and the hope that France will abstain from even the appearances of trespassing on the right of a feebler power The embassy leaves to-morrow stopping in Hartford for a brief visit. They will sail from New York for England on Saturday.

A VALUABLE WIFE.

An Editor Horse whipped by an Indignant Wife for an Article Reflecting on Herself and Husband

ST LOUIS, March 28. J. N. Peers, editor of the Collinsville (Ills.) Herald was publicly horsewhipped in that town yesterday by Mrs. Henry Marshall, wife of a well known business man there for the publication of an article which reflected on herself, her husband and her mother. Peers was badly marked about the face and neck by the heavy rawhide, vigorously applied by the indignant lady

THE TERROR.

Launch of a U S Iron-Clad.

PHILADELPHIA, March 28 The United States iron-clad Terror which was launched to Philadelphia is 250 feet long, fifty-five feet ten inches breadth of beam and fourteen feet three inches depth of hold. Her stem is made so as to form a ram, and the forward part of the vessel is so constructed as to withstand any severe shock in ramming She has two hulls, properly speaking, having inside plating as well as outside When finished she will have two turrets on the same longitudinal line, one forward and the other aft of the machinery, which will be placed amidships. The machinery will consist of two inclined compound engines each working a separate screw propeller The low pressure cylinders will be forty-eight inches in diameter and the high pressure thirty two inches, and both forty two inches stroke of piston A pressure of sixty pounds of steam will be supplied by six cylindrical boilers, twelve feet in diameter and ten feet long. The propellers will be right and left hand, twelve feet in diameter. Her cost, when finished, will be about $1,300,000. Just as the word to cut away for the launch had been given, the tug J Marker passed in front of the yard with a schooner in tow, and the Terror narrowly escaped cutting the latter craft in two, the monitor's flag staff being carried away by the jibboom of the schooner

VERMONT

A Benevolent Gentleman

ST. ALBANS, March 28 Chauncey Warner, of Cambridge, to-day made a second donation to the town of St. Albans of a piece of property for use as a Free Hospital His first gift was the Warner Home for Destitute Children, now in successful operation

THE MEXICAN DRAINAGE COMPANY.

One of the Probable Objects of Gen Diaz's Visit.

WASHINGTON, March 28 There is pretty good reason to believe that the visit of ex President Diaz to the National Capital at this time is not prompted exclusively by curiosity or a desire to enjoy the hospitalities of the Government. It is understood that a meeting will be held this week of the Mexican Drainage Company, a corporation in which Senator Rubio, of Mexico, who accompanies General Diaz, is said to be interested Whether General Diaz is himself personally interested in the same company is not very generally known

The leading American capitalists connected with the corporation as directors are said to be Senator Sabin and Mr. Lowery, of Minnesota Commissioner Loring is President of the company, and Senator Call, of Florida, is one of the Vice Presidents. Among the other directors are Senators Butler, of South Carolina and Jonas, of Louisiana and ex Representative Townsend of Ohio The company was organized to drain the valley in which the city of Mexico was situated. It is to receive, it is understood, a subsidy of $9,-000,000 from the Mexican Government, payable in monthly instalments of $25,000 as the work advances; and the company is to receive additional subsidies in the form of land on the area reclaimed. The company is required to deposit a forfeit of $200,000, which is to be released whenever the first eight instalments of the subsidy shall have been earned.

A question as to whether this forfeit should be deposited in Mexico or in the United States, has, it is understood, been decided in a manner satisfactory to the American capitalists who are interested One other difficulty remains, and at the meeting before mentioned an effort will be made to solve it. It appears that the company desires to complete the work within two years, and is anxious to know whether, if that be done, it can claim and receive the entire subsidy of $9,000,000 It is said that some doubts as to whether this question can be settled without its reference to Mexico are entertained by Minister Romero, General Diaz and Senator Rubio. It is probable that the meeting will not take place for several days. Ex-President Diaz and party have arrived in this city. They were met by Mr. Romero, the Mexican Minister, and Mr. Davis, Assistant Secretary of State, and escorted to the Arlington Hotel.

A Statement from Ex-Senator Kellogg.

Ex-Senator Kellogg said to-night that in a few days he expected to be able to make a statement which would be a complete denial of the allegations concerning him set forth in the Price affidavit.

The Hanlan-Kennedy Race.

Edward Hanlan, the oarsman, who is soon to row a race with Kennedy near Boston, and who is now training on the Potomac, said to a reporter to-night, in the presence of Kennedy, that as statements had recently been made and printed in various parts of the country which were likely to raise doubts as to the fairness and honesty of the coming race, he desired to say in explanation of his coming to Washington that when his adviser in Boston suggested his going south to train he came to this city because it is the only place in the south where he had friends, having made friends here on the occasion of his races with Courtney and Riley.

The subsequent suggestion of his adviser that he go to Richmond was not received until after he had accepted the hospitality of his friends in Washington and definitely settled here Under these circumstances, he said, he should stay in the city till advised that the water and boat house accommodations at Silver Lake were suitable for training when he would go there. He wished it also distinctly understood that Plaisted, whose presence here at this time has been commented on in a manner unfavorable to him (Hanlan) came here without his knowledge; that Plaisted is not and will not be with him during his preparation and that he does not want him around. Finally, he said, Kennedy and I are friends, but we are going to row a square, honest race, and the best man will win.

THE LATE POSTMASTER GENERAL

Funeral Services at Kenosha

KENOSHA, March 28 A special train, bearing Milwaukee and Madison delegations, arrived this afternoon, and many strangers arrived on the morning train. The town was draped in mourning and on all sides were evidences of deep sorrow for the loss of the deceased Postmaster General. A special train from Chicago brought several hundred persons, including Secretaries Lincoln, Teller, Chandler and Frelinghuysen, Acting Postmaster General Frank Hatton and a delegation from the Post Office Department. They brought a number of magnificent floral offerings. A light snow storm gave the deeply picturesque appearance. The body was at the residence of Col J. H. Howe about two miles from town. About 3 o'clock the remains were borne by the citizens of Kenosha to the Unitarian church, where they lay in state. The face of the statesman was opened to view and was tearfully scrutinized by the vast concourse of people. The decorations at the church were simple and entirely floral in character. The services were opened with a chant by a Chicago quartette. After an invocation by Rev Robert Collyer, of New York, the hymn "Abide With Me" was sung Rev Mr Simmons reviewed the character of the deceased with whom he had been for many years. The beautiful lines beginning, "O! spirit freed from earth," were sung by the quartette, and Dr. Collyer spoke on the hope of immortality The congregation then viewed the remains, after which the casket was given into the hands of the pall bearers, Chief Justice Cole, Gov Rusk, Secretaries Lincoln and Teller, Horace Ruble, Senator Sawyer, F H. Hatton and Senator Hill, and taken to the depot. The funeral train left for Green Bay at four o clock The services were exceedingly simple, the relatives of the deceased having requested that there be no attempt at display. There was no organized society in the procession. The deceased belonged to no secret society or organization. At Green Bay the body will lie in state at his late residence from 10 to 19 o'clock to-morrow, and interment will take place at noon.

A REFORM CLUB SOCIAL City Hall was last evening thronged with a large party at the entertainment and social under the auspices of the Bangor Reform Club The programme for the entertainment embraced a piano solo by Miss Perkins, song by Mrs. Hammond, reading by Miss Alice Clark, character sketches and songs by J. B. Donohoe, piano solo by Miss Perkins, Highland fling dance by little Mildred Varnum, recitation by Mr Vincent and clog and jig dance by James Connors. The exercises were received with applause and there were numerous encores. After the completion of the entertainment the settees were removed from the floor, and, to music by Howe's orchestra, dancing was commenced and continued until midnight, a large party participating.

RAYMOND TOURS TO THE FAR WEST. Attention is called to the Raymond Colorado and California Tours mentioned in our advertising columns. There are to be two more parties from Boston, one of which will leave April 12th, and the other April 26th. Each party will be in charge of a conductor and two assistants, special trains will be provided, and everything will be carried out in first-class style. The route has been planned with great care, so as to include the greatest possible amount of profitable sight seeing along the different routes going and returning. The regular trip will occupy 59 days and the return tickets are good for a much longer period. Ladies who join these parties need no special escort.

MAINE POST OFFICES. The Kennebec Journal says that under the bill for the adjustment of postmasters' salaries, passed by Congress just before adjournment, the offices in Maine now in the second class which will probably be reduced to the third, are those in Auburn, Bath, Calais, Gardiner, Hallowell, Rockland, Saco and Waterville. These offices each pay a salary now from $2,000 to $1,300 per annum. Under the new law the salaries of these offices taking out the expenses for rent, etc , will probably be diminished to from $800 to $1,200 a year. Again, under the new law Augusta and Portland only will remain in the first class, Bangor falling to the second, that office with Biddeford and Lewiston being the only offices under the head of the latter class. But while the salaries of many offices in the first, second and third class will be contracted, the fourth class offices under which most of the country offices now come, will pay even better than they do now.

Mr. Moody has a large and successful singing class at the Union street M E. vestry. There is room and a welcome for any who would like to avail themselves of his instructions. The Society has lately organized a quartette, and a large chorus choir of thirty voices. They are under Mr. Moody's instruction and furnish excellent music for the Sabbath services.

AMUSEMENTS

Margaret Mather—Matinee of "Leah" Friday Afternoon.

Very many of our theatre-goers will be gratified this morning to learn that Miss Margaret Mather will give an extra performance at the Opera House on Friday afternoon, appearing in the great play of "Leah, the Forsaken " Mr. Owen, of the Opera House, received permission from Manager J. M. Hill yesterday afternoon, too late for announcement in the evening paper, to give this matinee, as per the following telegram

BANGOR, March 27—11 A. M

J M Hill, Portland

Sale opened this morning House all sold below upper gallery. Would suggest a matinee of "Leah" or "Lady of Lyons" Answer

FRANK A OWEN.

PORTLAND, March 28.

Received at Bangor, 4 30 P. M

Frank A Owen, Bangor

I will play "Leah" for matinee.

J. M HILL.

Mr Hill was urged to this course in consequence of the immense sale of seats for "Romeo and Juliet," and from the fact that so many people were unable to secure seats Tickets will be ready at the box office this morning at ten o'clock, and the ordinary theatre prices will prevail.

Of Miss Mather's assumption of "Leah," the Rochester, N Y , Democrat, of Jan. 19 said

If any doubt existed as to the power of Miss Mather to scale the summit of tragic height, it must have been effectually dispelled by her splendid performance of Leah last evening. There have been but few actresses who have ever been able to satisfy all the demands upon emotional strength made by the character, but all fears were dissipated by the realization of dramatic possibilities which challenged unreserved commendation and disarmed adverse criticism The passionate love scene was finely done, and the gradations were made easily and naturally until the great curse scene was reached when she was absolutely appalling in her relentless fury The heart broken, despairing woman was gone and in her place the audience saw a beautiful tigress, furious in her rage and tortured beyond all endurance and restraint. The play of her electrical forces was magnificent, and the audience sat spell bound until the fascinating illusion was broken by the drop of the curtain. It was a great exhibition of sustained power and the large audience permitted itself to become infected with an enthusiasm which found expression in the most extravagant manner Salvini rendered a fine support as Rudolph, and Mr. Levick played the apostate Nathan to the life

Mrs Woolson's Lectures

Mrs Woolson's lecture on "Babylon and Babylonian Themes," announced for the coming Friday afternoon, will be postponed to Saturday afternoon, March 31st, at four o'clock The change in date is made out of respect to the memory of the late Charles Stetson whose funeral occurs Friday afternoon.

Whitmore and Clark's Minstrels

The old and well known organization, Whitmore and Clark's Minstrels, numbering twenty five people, will appear at the Opera House next Wednesday evening It has been four months since we have had a minstrel party, and there will doubtless be a full house

Notes

There is nothing new to be said in relation to the Margaret Mather night, except that the most of the gallery is sold. We understand from the Manager of the Opera House, that admission tickets will be sold to only as many as can be comfortably accommodated.

"Esmeralda," from the Madison Square Theatre, is the next important attraction

H. Price Webber and the Boston Comedy Company are playing in towns of Franklin county

The concert by Harvard students will probably be given at the Opera House on April 21st.

TELEPHONE WIRES.

[Washington Letter to The Cleveland Leader.]

I met to-day, at the Riggs House, a man who is largely interested in the manufacture of the Bell telephone, and in telegraphic instruments, and was much surprised at some of the statements he made in regard to the business. This man is so well known to the electricians of the United States and to the parties interested, that he does not wish to have his name given. "The telephone industry," said he "is growing like Jonah's gourd. Within the past month I have been over nearly the whole of the Union, and I find the use of the telephone increasing so largely, that the manufacturers are unable to supply the demand. Within the last six weeks I have taken orders for our factory alone, for 6,000 telephone bells, and I will sell ten thousand more within the next month. The demand for the coming spring, promises to be the largest ever known, in the history of the telephone. We have orders enough now on hand to keep us busy for two years, and we are increasing our capacity every year. There are five other factories in the United States making the Bell telephone and they are all doing well."

"Is there much money in the telephone?" I asked.

"Well, I should say so," was the reply "I don't know of any business that pays better. Telephone companies usually make a dividend of 16 per cent the first year, and this notwithstanding the cost of laying wires, and putting in the instruments. After this, the expense is comparatively little and the receipts proportionately greater.

"Nearly every man who has been largely interested in telephones," continued this gentleman, "has become wealthy. All our millionaires. Bell himself was seven years ago a poor Englishman, living in New Haven Connecticut, and experimenting in telegraphy. He had come from England a few years before. One day while he was experimenting on duplex messages he found he could talk over the wires and he conceived the idea of his telephone. I was with him at the time he made his instrument and we gave the first exhibition of it in the hall of Yale College before the students. Our first attempt was not a success. It wouldn't work, and we dismissed the audience with the impression that the experiment was a failure and we were a couple of visionary fools. We tried it again, however a few days later in the Opera House at New Haven, and succeeded so well that the Bell Company was organized at once. I think I established the first telephone company using the instrument. George W. Coy, the greatest electrician in the United States to-day and myself were in partnership. Our first exchange had eight wires, and they ran to the houses of friends over the city. No one thought of using it for business then. We had no bells, but used electric button-like those for calling servants at the hotels. The success created great excitement in New Haven, and we soon had twenty five subscribers and had to put in thirteen more wires. We next made a board of 180 wires. Up to this time it had been used entirely for social chatting and for the curiosity of the thing. When the business men saw the advantage of the invention and sub-scribers came in faster than we could put up the wires. It soon spread to other cities, first to Boston, then Lowell, Albany, Troy, and next to Chicago. After this exchanges sprang up so rapidly all over the country that it was impossible to keep track of them. And from that time on the new business was a success. At present there are more telephones in New York, than in any other city in the world, and the number has been increasing at the rate of twenty a day for the last year. Boston, Chicago Baltimore, Cleveland and Cincinnati are now putting in over fifty new telephones every month, and Nashville is increasing at a similar rate at the rate of two per day. The villages are establishing exchanges, and the time will come when the major part of the houses will be connected by telephone. The business is being pushed in Europe as well as in America but foreigners are too slow to take up new things that there is not now one telephone in England to one hundred in America. In France, the telephone is used by some of the larger business houses but as a convenience for the people it is almost unknown. In the other countries of Europe it is much the same. The people didn't seem to understand the value of the invention and they don't take hold of it as the Americans do."

What does it cost a man to have a telephone?

"The rates are different in different places ranging from $3 to $20 a month. When Coy and myself started the first exchange we charged $18 a year. Now in New York each subscriber within half a mile of the exchange pays $15 a month and in Boston and Baltimore from $100 to $220 a year."

What is Mr. Bell worth now? I asked.

"At least $6,000,000," was the reply. His income is very large, and increases every year with the extent of the business. He is a dark-complexioned man between thirty five and forty years of age. He talks with an English accent, and has a head of fine business. Attempts are being now made to break down his patents but it is questionable whether they succeed.

Tell me something about other men who have made money in telephones?

It would take all night," is the reply. Nearly every man who has handled them has made money. One of the most notable instances is that of Thomas Watson, the old gray haired mechanic who used to help Bell in his experiments. He had a little shop in New Haven, and made electrical instruments. Bell would give him his ideas of what he wanted, and the two would experiment together until the proper result was reached. When the company was organized Bell made him general manager of the United States. He is now a millionaire, and his family are traveling in Europe.

Marshall Lewell who is largely interested in telephones, and made a great deal of money by them. H. B. Hyde President of the Connecticut Telephone Company, has laid up a million within the last few year, and George W. Coy is also a millionaire. Coy lives at New Haven, and owns a magnificent residence at Milford, near here. He has more electrical patents registered at Washington than any other man in the United States. He has now sold all his patents to the United States Telephone Company and has nothing to do with Bell's. The Bell men fear him and awake every morning expecting to hear that he has perfected some new invention which will throw them entirely out of the market. Coy gets $5,000 a year for doing nothing. He takes a trip to New York every now and then, and the United States Company ask his advice as to electrical matters and they pay him this money for what he tells them. He is by all odds the brightest electrician in the United States."

HUMUS IN THE SOIL

Prof Pendleton, in his text book on Scientific Agriculture, reaches the following conclusions concerning the use of humus or organic matter in an agricultural soil.

1 Humus renders stiff soils friable and open.

2 It absorbs moisture from the atmosphere and thus supplies plants with it.

3 It retains the moisture longer than any other ingredient of soils.

4 It furnishes a considerable portion of carbon to plants either directly or indirectly.

5 In its widest sense it supplies the mineral elements of decayed matter in soluble forms for plant food.

6 It absorbs and holds free ammonia and its carbonate and thus supplies plants

7 It absorbs lime and its carbonate and renders it assimilable as plant food.

8 It furnishes a solvent to the soil (carbonic acid) for the silicate of potash and phosphate of lime, by which plants are supplied with the two important compounds, phosphoric acid and potash.

9 In warm climates it cools the soil by the constant imbibition and evaporation of moisture.

10. It is in fact a prime agent in the laboratory of nature for carrying on chemical changes in soils, producing heat, giving carbon, hydrogen and oxygen, as nitrogen obtained by absorption, and, of all the benefits resulting from humus in the soil, this last is the most important. Each and every one of these effects have been again and again demonstrated by the author and others, not in flower pots simply, but in the open fields, and yet we find men assuming to be agricultural chemists who consider humus in a soil of no agricultural value. We give the foregoing quotations from Prof. Pendleton, that reapers may understand some of the reasons why an old run out field, that has been mowed and then trampled by cattle at pasture till the soil is almost as hard packed as the clay in a brick, and the surface fed nearly bare of all vegetation, will not at once respond satisfactorily to the use of manures in the form of highly concentrated commercial fertilizers.

We never enjoy working any kind of soil as well as one that is so filled with decaying vegetable matter that during the warm days in June it will remind one of bread dough that is set to rise before going into the oven. Pure sand and clay may make a soil about as dead and inert as a box of bird shot. But mingle in a good proportion of leaves of plants, straw, stubble, roots, stable manure, which contains, as it always does, large amounts of straw material, or even sawdust or shavings from the mills, and life immediately seems to be given to the whole mass. It is true that some plants, like the cactus, can live in soils composed of pure sand, but it sends its roots deep into the soil, and can thus obtain some of the benefits of humus from the underlying moist strata.

Total farmers and gardeners learn to appreciate the value of vegetable matter in soils for the many purposes alluded to by Professor Pendleton, and can economically supply it by plough ng in green crops or otherwise, it will not be quite clear how it is that chemical fertilizers will not quite supply the place of ordinary stable manure. This explanation, however, is being gradually accepted by farmers, and methods are being adopted that accord with the facts in the case.—N E Farmer.

HOME COMFORT.

After a Rainy Day, a Country Physician Tells What He Thinks of Some People's

"I wish to gracious some people would learn when they need a doctor and when they don't," exclaimed Doctor E——, as he entered his house in a cosey little village in the interior of the State of New York after a tedious night ride of many miles. "I have been down among the meadows to see a man, and the messenger and I was very sick and not likely to live till morning, since he had immediate help and found him suffering from a rather sharp attack of cholera which his family might have relieved in ten minutes, if they had a grain of sense and two or three simple remedies in the house. But no they must remain ignorant as pigs, and when the least ache or pain takes them, send for a doctor, whether they pay him or not."

"Why, Doctor, what kind of a simple remedies, as you call them, do you expect people to keep in the house?" asked his wife, as she poured him a cup of hot tea

"In this case," answered the Doctor, "if they had only put a BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER on the man's stomach he would have been a frigh in an hour and saved me a three hours' ride."

In all ordinary complaints it cures at once.

All diseases are eliminated from the system by what may be roughly called expulsion or extraction or by a union of the two processes. Benson's Plaster promotes both. It incites the torpid organs to act, and sends to healing, soothing and diffusive through the myriad pores of the skin. All other plasters oblige the patient to wait. They give him hope for to-morrow. Benson's plaster gives him help to-day. Which is better, who do you think. Buy the CAPCINE and keep it in the house. Price 25 cents

WILBOR'S COMPOUND OF

PURE COD LIVER OIL AND LIME.

Get the Genuine Article—The great popularity of "Wilbor's Compound of Cod Liver Oil and Lime," has induced some unprincipled persons to attempt to palm off a simple article of their own manufacture; but any person who is suffering from Coughs, Colds, or Consumption, should be careful where they purchase this article. It requires no puffing. The results of its use are its best recommendation; and the proprietor has ample evidence on file of its great success in pulmonary complaints. The Phosphate of Lime contained in it is most marvellous healing power, as combined with the pure Cod Liver Oil by Dr. Wilbor, is prescribed by the medical faculty. Sold by A. B. WILBOR, Chemist, Boston, and all druggists. m&th1 eod&wSw

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letter carriers deliver and free by carriers when and reside in street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons having their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on and they will be delivered earlier than if left at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the entire business routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season to be important mails.

Holders of the Carrier's Watch will be open for the delivery of letters from 7½ to 8 A. M., and from 6 to 6½ P. M. Sundays from 9 to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and address required to return, across the hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window) when ordered in lots of not less than 500

A request for the return of a letter to the writer if unclaimed within thirty days or less, written or printed with the writer's name post office and state across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with

NB The blue and orange ink recommended to prevent fraud in changing the name and address when returned for request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed if not delivered to the person and address named, are returned to the writer free of charge. Letters removed at all

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes

was the first preparation ever thought of to restore gray hair to its natural color, and to stop the falling of the hair. It has had many imitators, but no equal. Hall's Hair Renewer has acted like a charm in every case where the hair was falling off, and in restoring gray hair to its natural color. It is the best dressing for the hair in the world. It is not a new experiment, but has been used by the people for years, and has given perfect satisfaction in every case. It will positively prevent the hair from falling off, and will cause a new growth to start in many cases where baldness has existed for years, unless the glands are entirely destroyed. It will restore the hair in cases of nervous fever, where the hair comes out by handfuls. It will keep the hair from turning gray, and restore it to its original color, after it has turned gray, in from one to three months. It will prevent dandruff, and cure all humors of the scalp, and keep the scalp white and free from scurf. It will make the hair grow on bald heads, where the glands are not entirely destroyed, in from two to six months. It will make whiskers grow on a smooth face. It will prevent the hair from turning gray at any age. It will make the hair grow on the face of children as soon as it should grow. It will make the hair grow on the face of any person in from two to six months. It will make whiskers grow on a bald head
